Love life
 live with your mind
 learn with your heart
 Do what you love
 laugh with life
 Do what you can
 others won't do what
 you can
 you would,
 if you could
 but you can't
 so you won't
 always laugh
 always love
 always move
 always think

always learn
 always have a favorite
 song
 always watch the
 candle
 before it burns
 catch the bird
 before it flies
 become the cat
 that befriends the mice
 watch the sunrise
 look at the stars
 draw a picture
 draw a breath
 pick a card
 and hold the breath
 wear a hat
 wear a smile
 hold gilded silver
 hold molten ice
 pay a tip
 pay the price
 always dance
 always sing
 try being the angel
 with a broken wing
 always remember
 heaven is boring
 earth is real!

Combat Stunts

by Nick Berger and Loukiano Stavrinou

This past week for our adventure periods, we have taken a series of combat stunt lessons with Joe Cherubino, our Drama instructor. We learned how to stage punch, kick and slap (It was all fake, of course). Learning how to fall down stairs safely and gory makeup were also parts of the class. On the final day, we put together a fight scene which included all of the skills learned over the week. Doug, Charlie, Ian and others were also part of this great activity.

Creative Arts

by Mami Terao

I really recommend you to have Creative Arts at least once this summer. You have a lot of choices such as what color to use for

"dream catchers" or what patterns to make and what colors to use for your lanyards. No one's experience is ever the same in Creative Arts. You can express yourself all you want. That is what makes Creative Arts a special part of Adirondack Camp!

An Interview with Joe Cherubino

by Dan McClung

Q. How long have you been here at Adirondack?

A. This is my first year.

Q. What is your favorite Mexican food?

A. Three Cheese Enchilada

Q. What is your favorite movie?

A. Silence of the Lambs

Q. Do you like blood and gore?

A. I like being able to [use] fake blood.

Q. Do you enjoy it here at Adirondack?

A. Sure!

Q. What is your favorite water sport and why?

A. I don't have a favorite.

Q. What kind of music do you like?

A. Alternative

Q. Do you like teaching Drama?

A. Yeah!

A Poem by Simon Biswas

Like a storm all things come to pass
In the eye of the storm everything seems to be doomed.
Memories of things that troubled us, now teach.
The haunting echo of rolling thunder troubles our souls
and only when the sun returns do we feel safe.
As violent as storms may be they all come to pass,
as our lives do too.

An Interview with Gail Freeborn

by Daria Badini

Q. How did you find out about this camp?

A. The Internet

Q. What do you teach?

A. Drama

Q. What cabins have you been in?

A. Northwind, and I am in Cougar now!

Q. What got you interested in this camp?

A. I have always wanted to come to New York, and the fact that I get to work with kids and teach Drama is a big plus!

Q. Did you know anyone from this camp?

A. No

Q. Are you a junior or senior counselor?

A. I'm a senior counselor.

Q. What plays have you directed?

A. Alice in Wonderland is the first play I've ever directed.

Q. How old are you?

A. I just turned 20.

Q. Were you surprised when people put icing on your face on your birthday?

A. No...when I first saw someone get icing on their face I thought it was really weird, but now I think it's fun.

Q. What was it like [living] in Northwind?

A. It was really nice and fun, but it was really far away from everyone. We also had to walk across Camp to take a shower!

Q. Do you have any brothers or sisters?

A. I have one sister named Michele. She is 22.

Q. Who is your best friend?

A. I have two best friends at home. Their names are Sage and Moriah.

Q. Who is your favorite [music] group?

A. I don't have a favorite group, but I like lots of different groups.
